I need a website that will have a bunch of skill review games on it orgenized by level of complexity. It models the karate system broken down by colors for each level
In each level there are three sub levels called “Stripe”. The purpose is learning hebrew reading and fluency but layout should be in english.

The colors are in the following order: White: Red: Orange: Yellow: Green: Blue: Purple: Brown: Gray: Black:

In each sublevel student should be able to choose a format of viewing all the games or the games by category of the type of games i.e. just matching.